About Me

I'm Rohit, a product-minded iOS developer with 6+ years of experience building and shipping mobile products with product, design, and engineering teams.

Building products made me curious about the thinking behind the interface: the people using it, the problems it solves, and the details that make it feel intuitive.

Today, I'm exploring UI/UX by combining product thinking, visual design, and technical understanding to create experiences that are useful, natural, and buildable.

I started by building experiences. Now I'm learning to shape them from the beginning.

MY BACKGROUND

Who am I?

FROM CODE → PRODUCT → DESIGN

I've spent 6+ years building mobile products as an iOS developer. Along the way, I've worked across the product lifecycle — from understanding requirements and collaborating with designers to building, shipping, and refining experiences.

That experience made me curious about the decisions behind the screens, which led me to UI/UX.

Today, I combine my engineering background with product thinking and design to create experiences that are useful, intuitive, and actually buildable.

MY JOURNEY

2019	2021	2023	2026
iOS Developer	Mobile Developer	Product Builder	UI/UX Designer
Built mobile apps & learned the craft of code	Shipped features & collaborated with product teams	Worked across product + tech & understood users	Designing experiences with a builder’s mindset

Let's grow something, together.
